ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

CSBG provides funding for the Des Moines Community Action Agency, a division of the Housing Services Department. Services are delivered through the Des Moines Community Action Agency at 1618 Sixth Avenue. CSBG funding is leveraged with funding through the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP), Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and United Way, which assist with the City’s Community Action efforts. CSBG funds provide the necessary staff support costs so that 100% of funds allocated from sources such as the City franchise and MidAmerican I-CARE funds can be used solely to assist households in maintaining heating and electrical service. In the 2011 program year, these two funds alone served 449 families or 1,369 individuals, of which 710 were children and 63 were seniors; income for all families were at or below 150% of poverty, meaning a family of four earns less than $33,525 and a household of one earns less than $16,335. In addition to the many other programs and services provided by the Community Action Agency, CSBG funds also help support, in conjunction with donations and/or grants, the personal pantry, holiday food basket and garden projects and assists households in maintaining heating and electrical service.

As part of the City Council action, staff is also recommending that the City Manager be authorized to negotiate and execute any changes in the terms, conditions or amounts specified in this contract and that the Housing Services Director or his designee be authorized to sign all fiscal and program forms required by said contract.

The Des Moines Community Action Agency is charged with providing services to the City's low-income families and trying to address and eliminate causes of poverty. The City became a public Community Action Agency in 1977. The origin of Community Action can be found in the signing of the Federal Equal Opportunity Act in 1964. There are now 1,000 Community Action Agencies in the United States. The City of Des Moines is one of 18 Community Action Agencies serving Iowa.
